

Anarchy Today

Seattle has been making big news in the last couple of days. The first major story emerged Tuesday, when police ceded an entire neighborhood to Antifa and Black Lives Matter, representatives of which barricaded a large segment of the Capitol Hill neighborhood and declared the area an “autonomous” community, separate from Seattle itself. The second newsworthy story occurred when thousands of leftist protesters led by Black Lives Matter and Antifa entered City Hall shortly after midnight on Wednesday, demanding that Mayor Jenny Durkan (a Democrat) resign.

End imprisonment, reintroduce segregation, ban police:
Seattle revolutionaries’ cartoonish ‘demands’ show they’re not serious

Would-be revolutionaries across the US are looking to Seattle’s Capitol Hill Autonomous Zone for cues on what’s next.

